- 25X1 1. The Klein Kuehnau - Aken road has been blocked to civilian traffic since 15 July 1951. Particularly intensive traffic of military vehicles was observed between midnight and 2 a.m. The following movements toward Aken on this road were observed between 23 and 27 July: a convoy of more than 50 motor vehicles [redacted] a convoy of 4 vehicles [redacted]
- 25X1 [redacted]
- 25X1 [redacted]
- 25X1 [redacted]
- 25X1 2. The former Junkers-Werkheim Nord at Dessau Kuehnau (M 52/E 17) after it was reconditioned, was taken over by an advance detachment of an engineer unit on 21 July. The installation had been previously occupied by German Volkspolizei. The nearby cantonment, consisting of 28 to 32 low wooden barracks buildings, has been reconditioned and is capable of quartering of about 2,000 men. The area between the cantonment and the Elbe River was being surveyed, allegedly preparatory to the construction of a concrete road. (2)

25X1 of Junkers Airfield. The cantonment at Gross Kuehnau was also 25X1 reported in connection with the first engineer exercise and was believed to have been used as a transient quarters. The cantonment was also mentioned [redacted] coincident to the beginning 25X1 of the second engineer exercise on 13 July. [redacted]

The present report indicates the possibility that the cantonment will become a permanent troop quarters which, in connection with the recent 25X1 occupation of the Junkers Werkheim by engineer troops and the camp at the former river training site southeast of the Pionier Schule at Rosslau, is suggestive of large-scale engineer training activity. [redacted]

(3) [redacted] the major belonged to the GOFG
25X1 in Babelsberg near Potsdam. [redacted]

(4) The AA gun emplacements have been reported [redacted]
